NEW PERIL FOR ENGLAND?

PRARS THAT ANOTHER CRISIS WILL POL LOW THE CLOSE OF THE BORR WAR.

on Said to Be Giving the Governs the Greatest Anxiety -Real Cause of Withdrawal of Infantry From South Africa -Effect of Liberal Split on British Politice.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, July 20,-It is too early to esti mate the effect on British politics of the nt speeches of Lord Rosebery and Mr. Asquith. The most general interpretation is that Lord Rosebery intended to appeal to the Liberal Unionists and the Liberal imperialists to form a new party, but there is no sign as yet of a spontaneous

-he weakness and dissatisfaction in the Unionist ranks are serious, but an actual schism does not seem imminent, Moreover, the memory of Lord Rosebery's weaknesses when he was last in office makes many hesitate, who would perhaps rally around a greater leader.

Nevertheless the present situation cannot last long. The Liberal party, as at ent constituted, must soon go to pieces The imperialist wing of the party, when it is reorganized, will draw recruits to an unknown extent from both Liberal Unionists and Conservatives.

It is well known that Prime Minister Salisbury's retirement will come at the earliest moment when he can with self-respect escape from responsibilities which he longs to relinquish. It is doubtful, however, when that opportunity will come. The Government has strong hopes that the Boer war is almost finished, especially in view of the correspondence between Secretary Reitz and Mr. Steyn, which was captured the other day by Gen. Broadwood.

The decision to withdraw 70,000 infantry from South Africa in September was made before the latter denouement. It was not dictated by the expected collapse of the Boer resistance, but by another crisis which threatens to follow locse on the heels of the war in South Africa. It would be premature to indicate the nature of this fresh peril, because it may even yet be averted, but it is giving the Government the greatest anxiety, and elaborate preparations are being made to meet it,

ANARCHISM WITHOUT BLOODSHED. New Party Condomns All Attempts on the Lives of Sovereigns.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. ROME, July 20. - Anarchism has taken a distinctly novel turn in Italy, where it seems there are Anarchists who think the world can be regenerated without the shedding of blood. These people have called a congress to meet in Rome in October for the purpose of forming a party to be com-They have also issued the customary setting forth the programme of the party. Clause 1 of this programme calls for the suppression of the causes of alf social inequalities. Clause 2 sets forth that absolute liberty is essential for all men, with the respect for life which should demns violence and all attempts on the lives of sovereigns and other persons.

The immediate object of the new party is to secure a majority in Parliament, and thus solve social and political problems

COMMERCIAL LEAGUE AGAINST US. Italian Statesman the Latest to Advocate This

LONDON, July 20.-The policy of the commercial league of European Powers against the United States is being quite seriously discussed in Italy, particularly

The latest contributions to the discussion have been made in the Popolo Romano by Signor Luzzati, former Minister of the Treasury, who regards this policy as feasible and thinks it should have the support of Italy.

He admits, however, that the job is pretty big one and is clearly of the opinior that all the European Powers must join an anti-American league in order to have any

JAPAN TO HAVE COREA.

Russia Said to Be Willing to Pay This Price for

LONDON, July 20.-Correspondence of a significant character has been passing between the British and Japanese governments in regard to British interests in Corea, the possible outcome of which may be a convention on that subject. The necessity for such a convention is due to the fact that Russia, for the sake of procuring Japanese assistance, or at any rate inaction in China, is willing to make such important concessions in Corea as will result in giving Japan supreme

AGUINALDO DIDN'T WANT TO BE KING. POSES AS KING ON A YACHT. He and the Members of His Cabinet Deny the Story of Monarchy Plan.

Special Cable Despot h to THE SUN. MANITA, July 20 - The American yesterday and to-day published details of a so-called scheme for a monarchy planned by Aguinaldo's Cabinet. This publication has aroused much native indignation and violent denials, and the native newspapers threaten violence against the ditors of the American

The American asserts that it uncarthed records which go to show that monarchy stalked behind the idea of a republic Aguinaldo aspired to be a King and his real idea was the enslavement of his countrymen after they had gained their inde-

The correspondent of THE SUN asked Aguinaldo about this matter to-day. He declined to discuss it any further than to say that he admired the weird imagination of the American.

The correspondent interviewed a number of members of Aguinaldo's former Cabinet on the same subject.

"It is rot," said Senor Tavera, a memberelect of the Philippine Commission.

"The publication contained a lot of crazyisms," said Senor Buencamino, the leader of the Federal party.

"It is nonsense," said Chief Justice Arelano, of the Supreme Court.

"Lies," said Judge Torres. "A pipe dream," exclaimed Supreme Judge Araneta.

MAIL TO EUROPE IN TWO DAYS. Rabbi Prey Says He Will Use Electricity -Has Practised on the Wabash River.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 20.-Rabbi Prey of Vabush, who has sent a letter to the Post Office authorities in Washington offering to explain a method by which mail can be transmitted to Europe in two days, said to-day that he regretted that the authorities at Washington had not regarded his communication as confidential, because he did not want any publicity in the matter until his offer was accepted and a test made.

He admitted that he had been working on his scheme for many years, and said that he would use electricity as a motive power and that the vehicle is to be a car which will move with perfect safety either on sea or land with a velocity of from 200 to 300 miles an hour. He declined to enter into details regarding construction, but it is understood that he has a model craft completed and that he has experimented with it on the Wabash River. He says that he was in earnest when he wrote the postal authorities, and that if his proposition is accepted and proper compensation guaranteed he will deliver mail al European ports within two days from lanta Fe Road Orders Forty Tandem Freight Engines From the Schenectady Works.

SCHEMECTADY, July 20.-The American Locomotive Company has received from the hison. Topeka and Company an order for forty tandem compound consolidation freight engines. These engines consolidation freight engines. These engines are the type formerly built exclusively by the Schenectady Locomotive Works, and this order will be filled here, aithough the engines can now be built at any of the works of the new company. The first locomotive of this type was built over a year age for the Northern Pacific freight service, and it proved so valuable for the mountain traffic that twenty-six more were ordered, and now comes the order from the Santa Fé road for forty.

The chief advantage of the tandem over the old cross compound locomotive is a gain of from 4,000 to 5,000 pounds in tractive power, as well as a more symmetrical appearance and greater compactness. In the cross compound engines the size of the cylinders is limited, and the whole work is divided between two cylinders, whereas in the new type it is distributed among four cylindersand a great increase of power is obtained. Another improvement is the Schenectady type of wide firebox, which has been so successfully used on engines on the New York Central and other roads. These engines weigh 200,000 pounds or 6,000 pounds more than the cross compound ,000 pounds more than the cross compound

HOPKINS WILL DEFACED FOR SPITE. Lawyer Says Some One Who Was Left Out Scratched Signature -- May Be Arrest.

WHITE PLAINS, July 20.—According to a lawyer who is interested in the estate of Major Robert E. Hopkins, the Tarrytown millionaire, the signature to the will the contest of which was reopened in the Surrogate's Court at White Plains to-day was scratched out for revenge. He asserts that the fourteen heavy pen strokes through the signature, on which the fight against the validity of the document is based, were made by some one who was left without a benuest. Detectives are trying to trace the source of the ink and are getting evidence which may soon lead to an arrest.

To-day Henry C. Henderson, counsel for some of the heirs, asked permission to reopen the contest, and called Dr. Townsend Rowe of t Tarrytown stational Bank to show from a conversation between Dr. Rowe and Major Hopkins that the will must have been in its original condition on the day Hopkins died. Yet after his death it was found hidden in his New York office with the signature se ratched out. The contest was adjourned until next Wednesday.

On Friday afternoon Nepivoda went to the fishing banks with the Palisade Fishing Club of Union Hill, N. J., of which he is a member and to which Herzig also belonged. He took the urn containing Herzig's ashes with him, but said nothing to his fellow club members of his mission. When the banks were reached and the fishing lines cast. Nepivoda asked the hand to play a funeral dirge. Then Nepivoda explained the meaning of the solemn music. He broke the neck of the urn and as the fishermen stood with bared heads and the band played "Nearer, My God, to Thee," Herzig's ashes were cast to the wind.

DUKE OF ORLEANS SURROUNDED BY HIS OWN LITTLE COURT.

France Believes the Conspirators Have Some Movement Under Way, and Leading Orleanists Are Being Watched - Prince Victor Napoleon Addressed as Prince Napoleon.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. PARIS, July 20.-The moment scarcely eems opportune for the Orleanists to try to cause trouble in France, but there is no doubt that the French Government believes that something is afoot and they are doing their best to discover exactly what that something is. Special reports have been ordered from agents of the Government in nearly every capital of Europe and a strict surveillance has been instituted over the leading Orleanists in France. The Duke of Orleans himself is some where in the Mediterranean on board the yacht Maroussia, on which he keeps a veritable court. The crew is armed and the officers wear swords and uniforms similar to those in the French Navy. The officers and men wear medals bearing the arms of the royal house, which are also all about the yacht and the fittings. But most remarkable of all, the yacht carries preech-loading guns and machine guns.

Possibly it is the knowledge of this aping of sovereignty that has caused the uneasiness of the French Government. Those who know the character of the Duke of Orleans say the Government ought to be aware that there is nothing to fear from him and that the public's only formidable enemy is Prince Victor Napoleon, who, by the way, recently dropped "Victor" and is now addressed simply as Prince Na-

Boston, July 20.-Although net expected nere until Sunday or Monday, the United States despatch boat Mayflower arrived in the harbor late last night with Gov. Charles H. Allen of Porto Rico and his wife on board. The Mayflower left San Juan on last Saturday and would have reached Boston several hours sooner had she not been detained Thursday and Friday by fog. Gov. Allen wanted to catch the 5 o'clock train for Washington yesterday afternoon, but on account of the delay he had to be content with the midnight express.

Commander James D. Adams of the Mayflower was interviewed after he had ordered a salute for Admiral Sampson, and received one of seven guns in reply.

"Gov. Allen is the bearer of the free trade proclamation of Porto Rico, which he will lay before the President. He will probably go to Canton to-night. NEWFORT, R I, July 20 - On Monday last a party of Thomas W. Lawson's Boston friends dined under tents on the lawn of the Gladstone Hotel at Narragansett Pier. They were charmed with "Dago," a pet monkey, and with a white cat, mascots brought by R H Stearns, the proprietor, from his New York hotel, the Navarre. They wanted to take the monkey aboard the yacht Independence for luck. Stearns didn't consent. After the party had gone the monkey was missing Mr. Stearns telephoned to Newport, finally receiving word from C. C. EX GOV. JONES DRAWS HIS KNIFE. Scene of Disorder in Alabama's Constitutional

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 20,-There was scene of disorder in the Constitutional Convention to-day when a former Governor of the State drew his knife to prevent his forcible removal from the hall. The other principal actors were the President of the convention and a former Confederate soldier with a wooden leg, who is sergeant-at-arms.

Former Governor Thomas G. Jones is championing an effort to put an anti-free pass ordinance into the Constitution and the issue has been at feverheat. This morning the question was up and he appealed from a decision of the chair. The chair directed him to resume his seat until he could put the previous question and Mr. Jones refused, declaring that he was the peer of the chair and knew his rights. The chair ordered the sergeant-at-arms to seat him and Mr. Jones passionately exclaimed that that could be done over his dead body only. The sergeant-at-arms was ordered to remove him and Jones drew his pocketknife and declared to the bystanders that he would send for his pistol.

The convention was a scene of bedlam and there were wild cries of order. Mr. Bulger of Tallapoosa, more vociferous than the rest, demanded that the sergeantat-arms do his duty, and remove the gentleman

"Suppose you come and try to do it," shouted the ex-Governor with fire in his eyes, and the rest of the delegates grew milder in their demands.

The old sergeant-at-arms, who had fought in many a battle with the ex-Governor, said in persuasive tones: "You are out of order, and you know it. Take your seat." The ex-Governor then sank into his seat, surrounded by friends. A few minutes afterward the Chair was unanimously sustained, but the free-pass question was postponed to some future time.

WILL SCHLEY SEEK VINDICATION? False Rumor Circulated in Washington That

He Had Asked for a Court of Inquiry. WASHINGTON, July 20 -While nothing new was added to-day to the latest phase of the controversy over Admiral Schley's conduct in the West Indian naval campaign, the subject was discussed with animation among naval officers with particular reference to whether the prominence given to Edgar Stanton Maclay's accusations of cowardice against Schley in his "History of the United S tates Navy" would force the accused officer to take action. There is a general feeling among the officers of the service on duty here that Admiral Schley will permit himself to pass to the retired list, when he reaches the age limit in October next, without seeking a vindication of the official and unofficial charges against his honor as an officer and a gentleman There was a false rumor circulated to-day that he had asked the Navy Department for a court of inquiry, and the general trend of sentiment on that point was expressed in the remark of an officer of high rank that "the report was too good to be true "

Optimistic officers who desire an official investigation of the charges against Schley are basing some hope on the statements in the Schley newspapers that Admiral Schley is being urged to demand an investigation by Congress or to seek redress in the courts through the medium of a libel suit against Mr. Maclay. Very few officers are willing to believe, however, that Admiral Schley will adopt either course, in view of his attitude up to this time. Of the two suggestions, that of suing Mr. Maclay is favored, because Admiral Schley will be on the retired list before an inquiry by Congress can be obtained. The Navy Department feels powerless to take the initiative, it is understood, in view of its recommendation that Admiral Schley be advanced for his services in the West Indies. Secretary Long would not talk to-day about the Maclay phase of the controversy. He regrets the free manner in which some of the Schley papers have used his views, particularly where the meaning of his remarks has been shaded to suit the purposes of the Schley side. It is understood that he is not hopeful that there will be an official investigation of Admiral Schley's conduct, and believing that no good can come of investigation of Admiral Schley's conduct, and, believing that no good can come of further agitation, wishes that the contro

PERIL OF EFFIE SHANNON'S DOG.

Sitting on the edge of a bed in room 13 of the Eastern Hotel at the Battery last night Harrison Armstrong, late of Nebraska, but more recently a member of the Kelcey-Shan-non theatrical company, told a delegation of reporters who had been summoned by a typewritten circular, a story of how he had jumped from the steamboat General Slocum in the North River yesterday morning and saved Effie Shannon's dog from drowning Mr. Harrison was dressed in a white duck suit and looked very pretty. His trousers were creased, and a black tie rested on an mmaculate white shirt.

The typewritten statement said that he was waiting at the hotel while his clothes dried out. But Mr. Armstrong at that late hour didn't look a bit wet. He said:

"I was on the General Slocum with Miss Shannon and a Miss Russell-I wont say whether it was Lillian Russell or not. Miss Shannon's dog Impecunious tumbled overboard. Of course, I didn't want Miss Shannon to lose her dog, and I was afraid the steamer wouldn't stop for it, so I jumped overboard after the dog."

It appeared that the actor rescued the dog, and a life saver rescued the actor. Mr. Armstrong also recited the history of his life and said that the dog was called Imp for life and said that the dog was called Imp for short.

The version of the incident that drifted into the Ship News office yesterday morning was: A young man who didn't give his name fell or iumped from the stern of the Slocum near Cortiandt street, North River. There was a cry of "Man overboard!" and later one of "Woman overboard!" The Slocum's professional life-saver grabbed a life buoy and iumped into the river. By the time the life-saver reached the man the Slocum was several blocks from him.

The man was a go of swimmer and declined the life buoy profered to him. The Slocum headed for the swimmers, getting a lifeboat ready on the way. Within about five minutes after the young man struck the water he was back aboard the Slocum. This, substantially, is the story that anybody might have read in the early afternoon papers vesterday.

DEATH OF JOHN DOWNEY.

ASTOR MASTER-BUILDER STRICKEN IN A STRANGER'S HOUSE.

His Own House Was Closed and His Family in the Country -Mr. Downey Was a Million aire-Built the Waldorf-Astoria and the Park Row and American Tract Buildings.

John Downey, the builder of many of New York's famous structures and master builder for the last twenty-five years for the Astor estate, died suddenly in this city on Friday at a house on West Sixty-fifth street near Columbus avenue. His family were at their summer home at New Canaan, Conn., and his own house at 28 East Fiftysixth street was closed. The cause of death was heart disease. Mr. Downey had been at his office at 410 West Thirtyfourth street early on Friday.

Coroner Bausch, who had the case Friday, and made no report of it that day, said at 10 o'clock last night that he had been notified on Friday afternoon of Mr. Downey's death by a telephone message from one of his relatives. Mr. Downey was an old friend of his, as they had served on arbtration committees to settle building trade disputes when the coroner was labor leader. Upon receipt of the telephone message, Coroner Bausch said, he got Dr. O'Hanlon, and together they went to the house where Mr. Downey's body was. Coroner Bausch said he could not remember the street or the number of the was. Coroner Bausch said he could not remember the street or the number of the house. He and Dr. O'Hanlon were convinced that Mr. Downey had died of heart disease. Mr. Downey had rheumatism, the coroner said, which had probably affected his heart. A doctor had called to treat Mr. Downey but Cor Bausch couldn't remember his name.

"When I was notified of Mr. Downey's death," said Coroner Bausch. "I was just starting for Bath Beach. I immediately went and viewed Mr. Downey's body with Dr. O'Hanlon. As it was evident that Mr. Downey had died from natural causes I issued a transfer to permit. My duty seded issued a transient permit. My duty ended with viewing the body. After that had been done I went to Bath Beach. I intended to return to the city and file a report at the Coroner's office this morning, but was unable to get back until just now The body was removed to an undertaker's at 269 West Thirty-fourth street. The funeral will be at the house, 28 East Fifty-o'clock. Mr. Downey was born in Ireland and in the seventy years of his life accumulated a fortune said to be over $1,000,000. His operations in the building line both on his own account and for others were very large and he leaves many mementos of his life work among the gigantic con-structions of the city. Under his direcstructions of the city. Under his direc-tion the Waldorf-Astoria, the Home Life and the American Tract Society Buildings, as well as the twin towers of the great Park Row Building, grew to completion The Astor residences and many other private dwellings were also built by him. Mr. Downey leaves two grandsons, John Downey, Jr., who was his business associate. and Edward Downey, Jr., a student a Yale, as well as a widowed daughter, Mrs Henry dec. Hastings, and several grand-children besides the two above mentioned He was prominent in the Building Trades Club and a member of the Metropolitan Club and the New York Athletic Club.

RAIL FIXED FOR ROSENBLOOM. Police Are Firm in Their Conviction That He

Sent Infernal Machine to Kletchka. The writ of habeas corpus secured by fordismissed by Supreme Court Justice Hooker in Brooklyn yesterday. Rosenbloom was arrested on Thursday charged with having sent or caused to be sent the package which exploded in the hands of Edgar Schroewhich exploded in the hands of Edgar Schroeder in the office of the Department of Public Improvements on Thursday morning and tore Schroeder's left hand off.

Justice Hooker said there was no reason why Rosenbloom should not be admitted to bail and he fixed the amount at $1,000. Rosenbloom tried to get a bondsman and several of his friends appeared before Magistrate Dooley, but were not elligible as they did not own real estate in Brooklyn. Late last night Mr. Backus said he had secured a bondsman who would qualify in the Adams street police court this morning. Several of Rosenbloom's frlends made up a purse of $1,000 which is to be deposited as security for the bondsman. Acting Captain Kennedy sent for James J. Jacobs yesterday and put him through a severe examination. At the end Acting Captain Kennedy said he was convinced that Jacobs did not know anything about the matter. He said he was more than ever convinced that Rosenbloom either sent the package to Kletchka or was responsible for its being sent.

Rosenbloom does not tell the truth," said the acting captain. "I asked him where he had been three nights lust week and he told me he had been at home studying. That was a deliberate lie. I had found out that he had been in New Jersey on the three nights in question and when I put the question direct to him, so as to let him know that I knew what I was talking about, he acknowledged that he had been in New Jersey. His actions in the office a few minutes before the package exploded is enough to condemn him." der in the office of the Department of Pub-

John Whalen of 113 East 166th street, who was sitting near, saw the man and leaped in after him. He reached him before he had had his head under water long and a fight followed.

"Don't touch me. I want to drown myself," said the man. He tried to throw Whalen and get him under water, too, but Whalen was too strong for him. Policeman Coyle came to Whalen's assistance and they got the man to shore. He said he was Andrew Mortimer, 2s years old, a physician, and that he lived on Fulton street, Brooklyn. He refused to give the number.

"I am in great trouble and it's all through a woman," he said and that was all the police got out of him. He was taken to the Harlem hospital and will recover.

POLICEMEN NEEDN'T BUY TICKETS. Col. Murphy Says They're Not Expected a

Hickory Club Chowder. of the sanitary squad had all been asked to buy tickets for a chowder party to be run off by the Tammany organization in Police Commissioner Murphy's district. The report had it that Col. Murphy's lieutenants had asked the policemen to buy the tickets had asked the policemen to buy the tickets at 15 each. Col Murphy said the story was ridiculous. He said that the club in his district had had a "chowder" every year for the last twenty years.
"You can rest assured," said the Colonel, "that if I can prevent it no member of the Police Department will buy a ticket for any chowder held by the c.ub."
At the Vickory Club, the Tammany organization of the First Assembly district some of the members said that they had heard that the club was to have a chowder, but they hadn't seen any tickets for it.

bustering Expedition to Attack Panam -His "Let Us Have Peace" Proclam Described as a Ruse to Luli Suspicion

Gen Rafael Uribe Uribe, the Colombian volutionary leader, has slipped away om this city and they are afraid at the Colombian consulate that he is gone to organize a filibustering expedition. Consul-General Arturo de Brigard professes to know where Gen Uribe is, but refuses to tell. On seemingly good authority, it is said that he is in Costa Rica

Gen Uribe came here from Colombia in January last, after he had fought for over a year as commander of the main division of rebeis With him arrived Gen. Pablo E. Obregon and Col. Murille, his adjutant and aide. Gen. Uribe did not make clear the object of his visit, but said he would fight on, as long as life lasted, if necessary, to overthrow the existing Government. Later, after a confer with Dr Carlos Martinez Silva, Colo Minister at Washington, Gen Uribe issued a manifesto that startled every one who knew him. The document was beaded. "Let Us Have Peace" In the flowery. fervid Spanish Colombians like so mu to employ, Gen. Uribe called upon them. to lay down their arms, as the task before them was futile The manifesto was for a long time the principal topic of political discussion among South Americans here. The author was fiercely denounced by the Liberals and applauded by the Conserva-

that he is a prisoner

When the manifesto reached Colombia
the Liberals refused to regard the advice of their former chief. In fact, he was characterized as a traitor to the cause,
Some refused to believe that Gen Uribe had written the manifesto, charging that it was a forgery and a Government ruse. Subsequent events seem to prove that the whole affair was only one of the cunning fighter's schemes to allay suspicion the whole analy as only only in the whole analy suspicion of his mission here. About two months ago Gen Obregon left for Costa Rica. "Private business" was given as the cause

All this time Gen. Uribe, who was living at the Hoffman Arms, Fifty-ninth street and Madison avenue, was under the ex-pionage of detectives employed by the Colombian Consul-General. "They bepionage of detectives employed by Colombian Consul-General. "They Colombian Consul-General. "They believed his intentions were honest, but were taking no chances," a Government supporter said yesterday. He knew he was watched and devised plans to baffle his pursuers. First he caused it to be reported that he had fallen from a Broadway, car and broken his kneecap and would probably be confined to his rooms for aix weeks An investigation was made by the Consul-General. He could not find a doctor who had attended the injured man, not even among the Spanish-speaking physicians, and Uribe was seen out again two weeks after the alleged accident. This aroused further suspicion.

Then Gen. Uribe announced that would go away for the summer, and this led to another merry chase by the detectives. He sent some luggage to Long Branch and it was followed next day by the clearly a large could be found. of either baggage or owner. Neither did any of the hotel registers show any record of a visit from Gen. Uribe. At last he had successfully evaded his watchers, and from that time he has not been seen here. The Colombian agents were off his trail for a week, which would were off his trail for a week, which would about give him time to reach Costa Rica. He is said to be there now, organizing a mighty filibustering expedition to attack Panama. The authorities at Panama have advised Consul-General de Brigard that they know where Gen. Uribe is and what he is doing, and that his reception will be warm, if not cordial. Incidentally the Government has caused to be shipped from here several cannon and other implements. here several cannon and other implements

FOUND THE BODY OF MISS HODGES. Missing Smith College Student Drowned Herself in a Pond at Bristol, Conn.

BRISTOL, Conn., July 20 .- The body of Miss Agnes Hodges, a student in Smith College, who has been missing two days, was found at 10 o'clock to-day by a party of boys who were bathing in Birge's Pond, a mile north of Bris-tol. William Fitzpatrick was in swimming with some companions and on diving in twelve feet of water struck his foot against what he thought to be a body. again and put his hands on the body.

Fitzpatrick notified the authorities and Coro-

again and put his hands on the body.

Fitzpatrick notified the authorities and Coroner Hull and Chief of Police Arms held an inquest. The body was identified as that of Miss Hodges. The Coroner decided that the case was one of suicide.

Miss Hodges graduated from the Bristol High School last year, and last september entered Smith College. There she studied hard with the idea of perfecting herself so as to become a teacher of Latin. Her mind gave way under the strain and in December she came home on the advice of the college authorities. She secreted herself in the garret of her home soon after this and remained there a day and a night while the police and friends were searching the town.

Miss Hodges went to a hotel in New Britain one month ago, hired a room, purchased an ounce of laudanum and took a large dose.

The posson drift not take cifet, so she bought a pistol at a hardware store. When she inquired for bullets the clerk gave her blank cartridges, so that when she afterward tried to shoot herself she failed. Shortly afterward she was discovered and brought to her home here.

Miss Hodges left the home of a cousing where she was staying, last Wednesday night with a nightdress covering her walking suit. She went to Birge's Pond and drowned herself. Since that time hundreds had searched the pond and surrounding country.
